Reading Words with QU

Helpful Hint: Lifelong preferences in literature develop at a young age. It is important to use this window of opportunity to help the child gain a love of good literature, including poetry—something relatively few children today are developing. The child will learn much from how you approach poetry. By not skipping poetry, enjoying it yourself, and being enthusiastic about it, you will help the child appreciate the power of poetry.

- ☐ Do not start this course until you have completed the "Master Before Starting This Course" Reading Booster C Cards.
- Work on reading booster cards or books for 8 to 12 minutes, following the booster card instructions.
- Read to the child: I'm really excited to learn with you through this course. I won't be your only teacher, though. Guess what else is going to be your teacher? Poetry! As I read poetry to you, and as you read poetry to me, it will not only help you practice reading but also place beautiful language patterns in your mind. This will help you to be a better writer now and throughout your whole life. Poetry will also help you recognize and appreciate beauty in the world around you, and it will help you develop a stronger heart and mind. Let's get started.

The poem I am going to read talks about asters. Asters are flowers that look and smell beautiful and attract a lot of bees and butterflies. Read the poem to the child. Then have the child read the poem to you.

September

By Edwina H. Fallis

A road like brown ribbon, A sky that is blue A forest of green With that sky peeping through.

A grasshopper's call, Today it is summer, Tomorrow is fall.

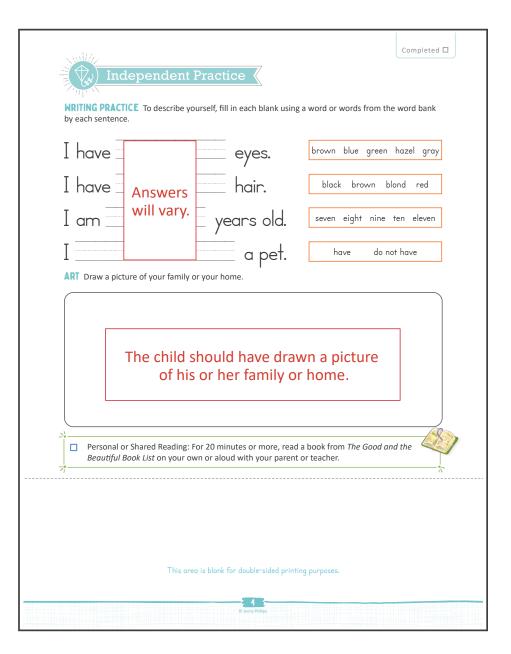

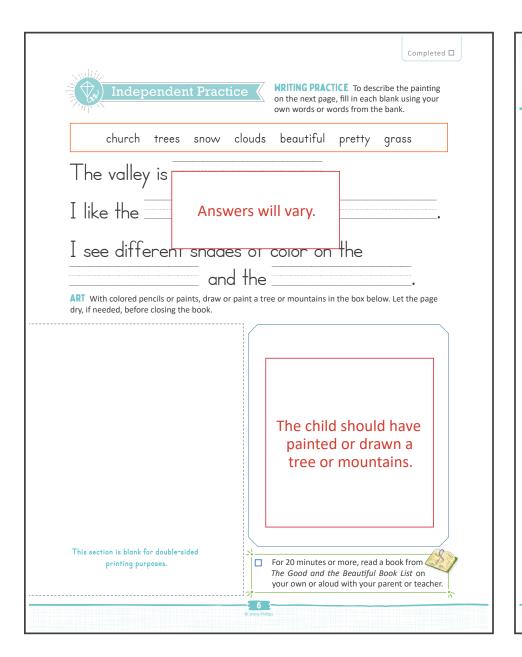

Have the child circle all the color words used in the poem. Read to the child: Poems paint pictures in our minds. Listen to this poem as I read it again, and then listen to me read a version of the poem without any use of color. Read the poem above again, and then read the poem below. Discuss how the use of color helps the poem paint a more lovely picture.

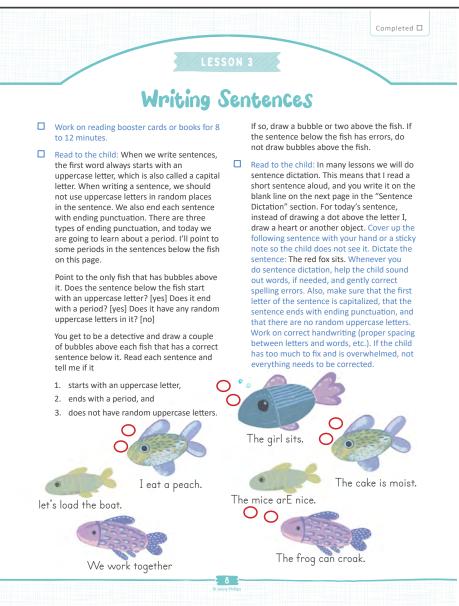

A road like ribbon, a sky, a forest With that sky peeping through. Asters, a grasshopper's call, Today it is summer, tomorrow is fall.

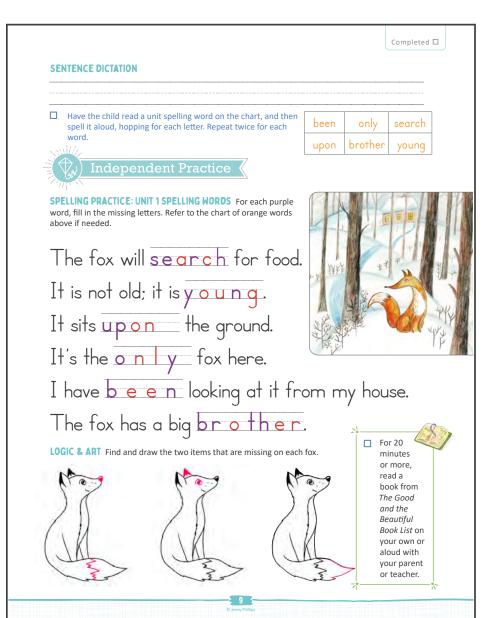

- Read to the child: Through this course you will learn to read many new words, which will allow you to read so many more good and beautiful books and poems. Let's learn about the letter Q. In English the letter Q is almost always paired with the letter U. The combination QU makes the sound /kw/ as in QUICK.
- Climb the Wall. Have the child cut out the word boxes on the bottom of the next page. Spread the boxes out on the table. Read to the child: Let's do an activity called "Climb the Wall." Start at the bottom of the wall. Choose a box you cut out and put it next to the bottom QU box. Read the two boxes together to read the word. Then create the next word up the wall. Continue until you have finished climbing the wall. Then remove the boxes and climb the wall again with new words.

Helpful Hint: The free Good and Beautiful Letter Tiles app is very effective, as it includes only the letters the child needs for the lesson, which reduces frustration and time spent searching through all the letters of the alphabet. In addition, time is not spent getting physical tiles ready and resetting them after each word. The app also has tiles for phonograms.

READING & LOGIC Cut out the sentence strips, read them, and then tape them in the right order in the boxes below.

Put the Story in Order

Grandpa and Dirk Plant a Tree

First

The very first thing Grandpa and Dirk did was find a spot to plant the tree.

Second

Next, they dug quite a big hole.

Third

Once the tree was set in the hole, they covered the hole with dirt.

Fourth

Last, after the hole was covered by dirt, they watered the tree.

LESSON 7

Open Syllables

- ☐ Work on reading booster cards or books for 8 to 12 minutes.
- ☐ Read to the child: What are the vowels? [A, E, I, O, U, and sometimes Y] Consonants are letters that are not vowels. Tell me two letters that are consonants.
- Have the child spell the following words aloud: day, say, quiz, stay, tray.
- Read to the child: In the last lesson, we learned that syllables ending with a consonant are closed syllables. Here is a good way to remember what a closed syllable is: closed and consonant both start with the letter C. What does a closed syllable end with? [a consonant] An open syllable ends with a vowel. What does an open syllable end with? [a vowel] When a syllable is open, the vowel usually says its name.

Point to the glacier in the painting. How many syllables are in the word GLACIER? [two] Write "gla - cier" on the whiteboard. Is the first syllable of the word GLACIER open or closed? [open—it ends with a yowel] Because the syllable is open, the yowel makes the long sound—its name.

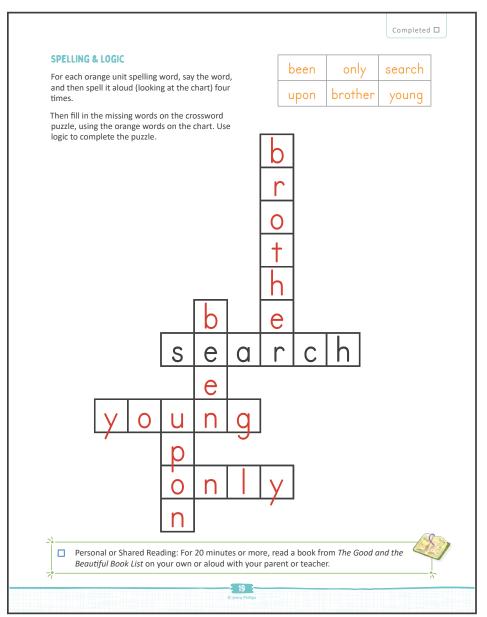

Give the child a crayon or colored pencil. Read to the child: The words on the chart all have two syllables. The words are broken into syllables with a dash in between. Look at the first syllable of each word. If the syllable is open, meaning it ends with a vowel, circle the word. After you have completed this for the entire chart, go back and read the words you circled.

□ Dictate the purple words below (spelling review from lower-level courses) and have the child spell the words aloud. Write down and keep any words missed and practice daily until they are mastered. These words will not be reviewed again.

Point to a cliff in the picture. How many Fs are at the end of the word CLIFF? Sometimes words end with a double S, F, L, or Z. In this lesson we will find out why some are doubled by learning Spelling Rule: Double S, F, L, or Z at the End of Words. First, let's do an activity to practice short and long vowels.

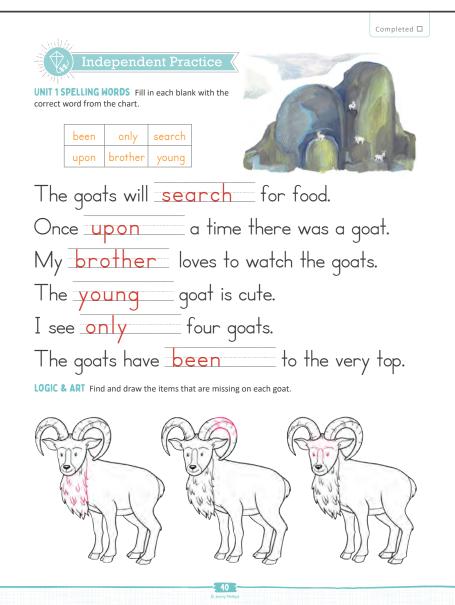

Have the child read the words below, find the items in the painting, and then tell you if the vowel in each word is long or short.

READING PRACTICE AND COMPREHENSION Read each story, and then circle the correct answers.

Abby on the Farm

Abby loves spending two weeks every summer in the quiet countryside on her grandparents' farm.

DECODING PRACTICE

Give the child a highlighter or yellow crayon. Read to the child: When reading longer words, it is helpful to recognize letter teams that together make one sound, such as TH, ER, AI, OA, and so on.

The words below are divided into syllables, as shown by the gray and blue boxes. You will read each row of words below. First, look at the letter team in the yellow box and say its sound. Then on the row below the yellow box, highlight each use of the letter team on the row. It's not a team if the letters are split between syllables. Then read the words. Read the hints above each word to the child if needed.

Completed □ LESSON 40 Only items that are helpful to have mastered at this point are assessed. The child completes the exercises with purple headers only. Correct the work. If the child makes one or more mistakes in a section, check the orange "Additional Practice" checkbox for that section. On another day the child will complete all the orange sections that are checked, if any. If the child still makes multiple mistakes, make sure the child understands why and consider continuing to practice the concepts Note that you will need to administer the Reading Assessment section. There is no orange section for the Reading Assessment. Instead, you will be instructed in Lesson 117 to assess the passage again to see what progress has been made. Read to the child: This review gives you practice with major concepts from Unit 1, and it will also help you to be better prepared for any type of testing you will have to do in the future. I will read the instructions in each section to you. You will complete only the purple sections today. "I am sure I could not think of changing places with you, sir," he said.

"Now tell me," said the king, "what makes you so cheerful and glad here in your dusty mill, while I, who am king, am sad every day?"

The miller smiled again and said, "I do not know why you are sad, but I can easily tell you why I am glad: I earn my own bread, I love my wife and my children, I love my friends and they love me, and I owe not a penny to any man. Why should I not be happy? For here is the River Dee, and every day it turns my mill, and the mill grinds the corn that feeds my wife, my babes, and me."

"Say no more," said the king. "Stay where you are and be happy still. But I envy you. Your dusty cap is worth more than my golden crown. Your mill does more for you than my kingdom does for me. If there were more

The king turned about and walked sadly away, and the miller went back to his work singing:

ORAL NARRATION

Oral narration is an incredible exercise for strengthening recall, summary, storytelling, and organization skills. Read to the child: You get to narrate your own version of "The Miller of the Dee." This means that you will tell the story back to me in your own words. If needed, make a list of key words or pictures to help prompt the child.

Encourage the child to tell the story in his or her own words, using details and descriptions from his or her own imagination. You can even quickly prompt the child by saying something like, "That sounds wonderful. Describe it in more detail. What did it FEEL like? What did it LOOK like? What did it SMELL like?"

Sight Words: Group 2 + Reader's Theater

- ☐ Work on reading booster cards or books for 8 to 12 minutes.
- On the Good and Beautiful Homeschool app, go to Language Arts > Level 2 > Videos > Reading with Expression. Play the video and watch with the child.
- Note: The main character, Taylor, can be a boy or girl, depending on who is playing the part. Read to the child: Today we are going to practice sight words you have learned in your reading booster cards by doing a reader's theater where we read a two-person drama. A drama is a story that is acted out. The story we are going to read is called "Diamonds and Toads." This is a modified version of a French tale by Charles Perault. This story has two parts: the narrator and Taylor. We will read the story two times.

We will try to read with expression in our voices, as we learned in the video we Take out pages 167 and 169. You keep a page and give the other page to the child. Follow Steps 1 and 2 below. Keep page 167, as part of the independent practice is on the back side of the page.

- Read to the child:
  - 1. We will both stand up as we read. The first time we read, you will be Taylor, and I will be the narrator.
  - 2. The second time through the story, you will be the narrator, and I will be Taylor.

Three Things a Sentence Must Have

☐ Have the child read the poem:

Trees

Trees just stand around all day And sun themselves and rest. They never walk or run away And surely that is best. For otherwise how would a Squirrel or robin find its nest?

Read to the child: A sentence is a group of words that starts with a capital letter: ends with a period, exclamation point, or question mark; and expresses a complete thought.

A subject: A subject is who or what is acting or being in the sentence.

A verb: A verb can be an ACTION or BEING word (for example, RUN or IS).

If a sentence is missing a subject, verb, or complete thought, it is called a fragment and is not a complete sentence.

Let's review. What three things does a sentence need? [a subject, a verb, and a complete thought] If a sentence is missing any of those things, it is called a _____. [fragment] A fragment cannot stand on its own as a sentence.

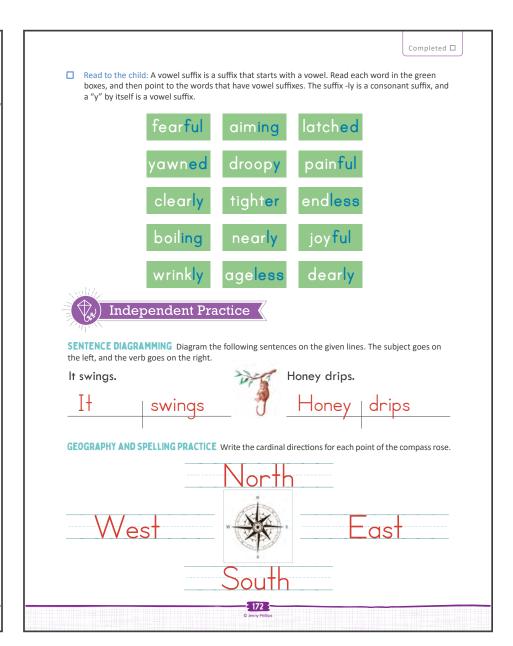

☐ In the purple box, have the child circle what each fragment is missing: a subject or verb.

Verb Tenses

- ☐ Work on reading booster cards or books for 8 to 12 minutes.
- Have the child spell the following words aloud: them, start, played, crying.
- □ Dictate these words and have the child write the words at the bottom of this page: cling, keep, crib. If needed, read this spelling rule to the child: At the beginning or middle of a word, usually use K for the /k/ sound before E, I, or Y. Use C in front of any other letters.
- Remove page 193 and give it to the child: Paintings like this one can show us the beauty and joy we can find in nature. Look how majestic and beautiful the trees are. We can see how tall they are compared to the men walking beneath them. Do you notice how the painting uses a lot of blue and green? Blue and green are cool colors. Cool colors make us feel calm. Because this painting uses so much green and blue, it can make us feel relaxed and refreshed when we look at it. Let's use this painting to talk about past, present, and future tenses.

When the action or being is happening right now, it is in the present tense; for example, "I work." When the action or being happened in the past, it is in the past tense; for example, "I worked." When the action or being has not happened yet, it is in the future tense; for example, "I will work."

I will tell you some sentences about this painting in present tense. You tell them to me in past tense. Do the same thing for future tense.

Clouds float. | The girl walks. | Trees give shade.

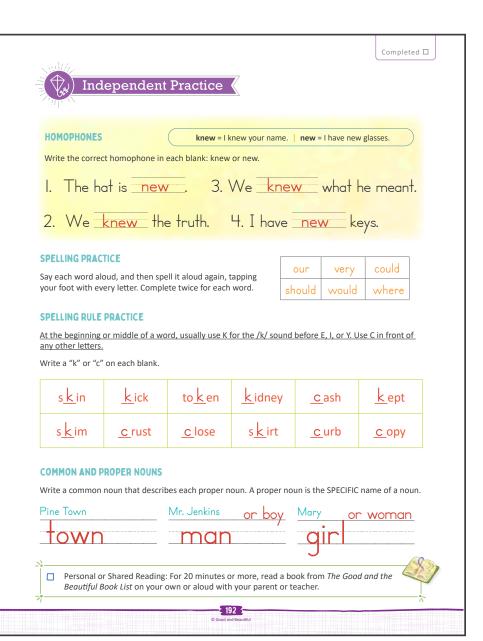

☐ Write these categories on the whiteboard:
"Common Nouns" and "Proper Nouns." Write the word "person" under the "Common Nouns" category. Let's give a person in the painting a name. Write the name the child chooses under the "Proper Nouns" category.

Put the word "river" in the "Common Nouns" category. Let's give the river a name. Write the name of the river under "Proper Nouns." Make sure the first letter of each word in the name is capitalized.

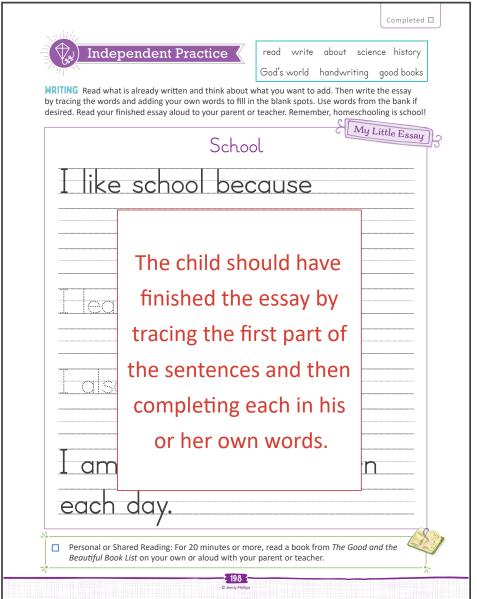

Now let's write two statements about the picture using our imaginations. We will write the sentences in the present tense. Write the sentences on the whiteboard or have the child write the sentences. Now tell me the sentences aloud in the past tense. Now tell me the sentences aloud in the future tense.

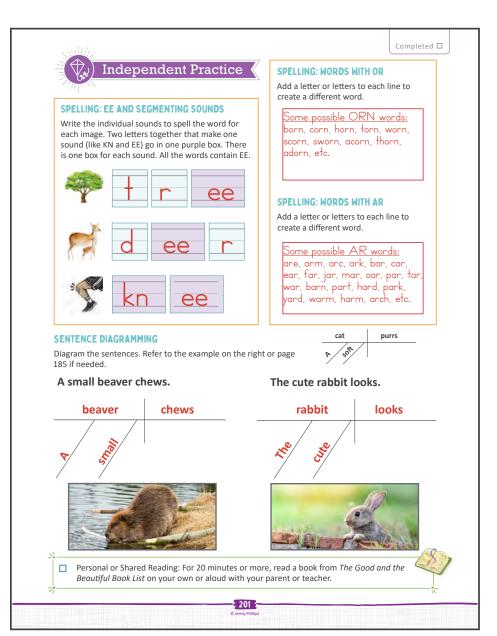

Read to the child: Fill in the missing words in the chart.
